Background

Stephen S. Mosher practices in the area of patent and copyright matters, with an emphasis on patent procurement. A patent practitioner since 1989, Steve's practice focuses on patent prosecution, prior art searches and patent analysis in telecommunications, internet, oil & gas, electronics and mechanical fields. His practice also includes substantial support of patent litigation.

Before entering the practice of law, Steve held engineering and management positions with several electronics corporations, including Motorola, Harris Intertype and Tandy. With twenty years of engineering experience, he is particularly skilled at drafting detailed, and therefore more defensible, patent applications. Steve is one of six patent attorneys in the firm, forming a skilled patent procurement team with a great track record of obtaining patent protection across a variety of technology areas.
